Surprise Package. The Metamora Association for Historic Preservation recently received an unexpected surprise package in the mail from the Joliet Historic Association. The enclosed letter said their association was cleaning out and updating some of their content. As such, they sent us these 15 pictures of old Metamora. How they came into possession of the pictures is completely unknown. But we are ecstatic to get them.

You may have seen some of these before. The writing is difficult at best. And some of the descriptions seem questionable. So please help us orient the pics regarding the locations, etc. You may notice that some of the buildings appear in more than picture which might offer some clues. So put your detective glasses and hat on and let us know what you think.

Street Scene Metamora 1864. East side park looking north; Ingersol Law office (Note the similarity of the large white building with the 2-level porches with the pic on the right)

Metamora 1868 Ingersol and Cassel Law office xx x Bank Wikoff Drug Store and Livery Stable East side of park looking north. (We assume this might be the intersection of N Davenport and Partridge. Could the livery stable be the one owned by Underground Railroad conductor George Kern?)

What in the World is Kittenball?

Surely it wasn't a kitten used (sorry cat lovers) instead of a ball? Here's a little history about the sport...

Kitten ball is another name for softball. Softball was invented in 1887 and was designed to be an indoor sport.

Kittenball was introduced in 1895 by Lewis Rober, a Minneapolis fireman as a recreational game for crews to play between fire runs. It was a variant of baseball with a larger softer ball, a smaller diamond and underhand pitch.

Yet another version... Softball began in 1887 when George Hancock, a reporter for the Chicago Board of Trade, invented "indoor baseball". By the spring of 1888, the game had spread outdoors. It was originally called either mushball, kittenball or indoor baseball, but by the 1920s it had acquired the name of softball.

OLD METAMORA BASEBALL TEAM

This old picture was printed in the August 26, 1921 Herald. It tied the kittenball tournament to Metamora's historic team.
